

Alexander Lutter

This young explosive yet silky smooth EU shooting guard's athletic supremacy routinely dominates most athletic small forwards and has even been known to surprise seven foot centers in the paint. Possessing a flawless shooting touch within the three point arc, Alexander has left many league insiders stunned that he is in his first half season of top division play, and opponents fearing his potential with more experience. Having never faced injury his youth shows only in his competitive drive and exuberant joy for the game. His game and approach to getting the job done suggest a far more experienced player. He is his own harshest critic and despite his ability to easily make defences and gravity - seem irrelevant it is difficult to find a harder working player. Any club looking to obtain a dominant young swingman needs to act quickly as Alex is a European free agent effective May 30, 2008.